

DIVERSE PERSPECTIVES, COMMON GOALS

THE INSTITUTE FOR FIREARM INJURY PREVENTION

Firearms were responsible for more than 48,830 deaths across the United States in 2021, and the national crisis is growing more intense every year. As the nation's largest public research university, the University of Michigan is generating new knowledge and advancing innovative solutions to reduce firearm injuries and deaths.

ADVANCING RESEARCH

The Institute generates multidisciplinary, evidence-based research to decrease firearm injuries and deaths, all while respecting the rights of law-abiding citizens to legally own firearms.

ENGAGING COMMUNITIES

The Institute develops and strengthens partnerships with urban and rural communities so that, together, they can implement research-based solutions that spark positive societal change.

BUILDING THE PIPELINE

The Institute educates and trains a diverse, next generation of researchers who can focus their efforts on exploring firearm injury prevention from a variety of diverse disciplines.

AREAS OF RESEARCH

The Institute explores firearm injury across the lifespan in an effort to identify and implement solutions. Its multidisciplinary team is especially focused on reducing firearm injuries caused by:

FIREARM SUICIDE

COMMUNITY FIREARM VIOLENCE

SCHOOL AND MASS SHOOTINGS

INTIMATE PARTNER FIREARM VIOLENCE

UNINTENTIONAL OR ACCIDENTAL
FIREARM INJURIES

LETHAL POLICE FORCE

ACTIONABLE RESEARCH TO ADDRESS A NATIONAL CRISIS

In an effort to reduce firearm injury nationwide, the University of Michigan Institute of Firearm Injury Prevention:

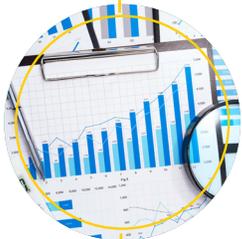

GENERATES INNOVATIVE EVIDENCE-BASED PROGRAMS AND SCHOLARSHIP

TRAINS FUTURE RESEARCHERS

PARTNERS WITH COMMUNITY STAKEHOLDERS

CATALOGS AND MOBILIZES RELEVANT DATA

EVALUATES NEW AND EXISTING POLICY SOLUTIONS

“As the nation’s largest public research university, we have an obligation to use our knowledge and experience to identify solutions for this national crisis. Through the Institute for Firearm Injury Prevention, we are able to generate new evidence that can inform policies and programs, ultimately protecting people nationwide.”
